

MUST REMOVE FOUNDATION OF NEW JAIL FROM SQUARE

County's Title, However, Not Affected by Supreme Court Ruling.

INTERPRETS VERDICT

Injunction Does Not Bar Jail More Than 200 Feet From School.

(Special to The Argus.)

Springfield, June 6.—A modified opinion was filed today by the Illinois supreme court in the injunction suit of Bishop Edmund M. Dunne of the diocese of Peoria of the Roman Catholic church against the county of Rock Island, in which the supreme court at the April term handed down an opinion ordering the circuit court of Rock Island county to enjoin the county of Rock Island from erecting a jail on the court house square within 200 feet of the Roman Catholic school house.

The circuit court entered a decree enjoining the county "from locating, building and constructing and thereafter maintaining said jail building on any part of the public square and particularly within 200 feet of said building of the complainant so used exclusively for school purposes." From this decree the county filed an appeal in the June term of court.

Does Not Cover Whole Square.

The supreme court, in the modified opinion filed today, says that a reading of the opinion of the supreme court handed down at the April term "would show that an injunction against erecting a jail at any place on the public square not within 200 feet of the complainant's building was not within the meaning or intent of the direction given, because no question of that kind was considered or decided."

The supreme court holds that the county remove any part of the jail which was constructed while the suit was pending. Also, it directs that the circuit court modify its decree by striking out the words "any part of" and the words "and particularly," and as modified the decree is affirmed. Justice Floyd E. Thompson, having been state's attorney for the county of Rock Island throughout the litigation, took no part in this discussion.

Ends Hard Fought Case.

This marks what is expected to be the last stage of the famous case which has been fought three times up to the state supreme court and once through the supreme court of the United States. The appeal this time was for an interpretation of a former decision in which the circuit court was directed to issue an injunction, there being doubt as to whether the county would be permitted to retain any part of the foundation of the new jail already constructed, especially the south end, which had been intended to permanently serve for a heating plant for both jail and court house and which is now supplying steam for the latter.

INFORMATION HERE ABOUT WAR WORK CAMP AT NEW YORK

Relatives of men returning from overseas are perhaps not aware of the facilities of the war camp community service in New York City for handling the wants of the men upon their debarkation at the port of New York. W. C. Knoelke, executive secretary of the tri-city war camp community service, has received information from headquarters which in many instances can be of great value to relatives or friends of soldiers.

The returning soldier or sailor arriving as a stranger in New York City finds in the hall of states opportunities for renewing association with his home state. This provides some semblance of a welcome from home to him.

Established by war camp community service in the large parish house at 27 West Twenty-fifth street, the hall of states is a busy center, with desks representing 47 states presided over by men or women representing these states. Here men may apply for jobs in their own states and meet people from their own section of the country, secure newspapers from home, take rides on sight-seeing busses which start from the hall, obtain free theatre tickets each day and refresh themselves with the coffee and doughnuts always on hand, and on the whole enjoy their experience of individual welcome.

Before the wounded men arrive, each state representative is furnished with the official list of the sick and wounded, their addresses and those of relatives, and the names of the hospitals to which the men will be sent. The representatives visit these men in the hospitals and inform their relatives of the patients' progress and provide owners and fruit occasionally.

Practical assistance is given in securing employment in the men's respective states. Hundreds of positions each day have been secured through communicating with governors, chambers of commerce and large industrial companies. One state sent in a hurry call for 3,000 men to work on road contracts.

Radio messages are sent to incoming transports extending an invitation to the men to avail themselves of the advantages of the hall of states.

In the last two months over 19,000 service men have registered their respective state books. If a soldier is from a state which lacks quarters in the hall, war camp community service takes care of him.

People who have soldier relatives or friends from Illinois returning through New York may avail themselves of this service by writing to the Illinois representative, addressing the letter in the following manner:

"Mrs. Anna H. Underwood, Illinois Desk, 27 West Twenty-fifth St., New York City."

DEMANDS WILSON SECURE PROBE OF IRISH QUESTION

Paris, June 6.—Frank P. Walsh, one of the delegates of the Irish societies in the United States, who visited Ireland and recently represented a demand to President Wilson that the peace conference investigate the Irish question. His demand is accompanied by a 6,000 word report on the observations made by Mr. Walsh and his colleagues Michael J. Ryan and Edward F. Dunne, during their visit to Ireland.

In the event of Mr. Wilson's failure to push the matter, Mr. Walsh says he will present his request to the Italian delegates, and failing there, to the British colonies.

EIGHT PACKING FIRMS MERGE IN ONE BIG CONCERN

Chicago, June 6.—Full details of the merger of eight independent packing companies, announced in New York last night, will be given out about June 12, according to A. Hawkins, who has resigned as vice president of Wamp and company in order to head the new corporation. Mr. Hawkins said today that the capitalization of the new concern had not been set definitely, and that the figure of $165,000,000 given out in New York was a mistake.

"The capitalization will be large, necessarily, and will be ample to take care of the needs of the company," said Mr. Hawkins. "I can not go beyond that statement because the exact figure has not been determined."

NO CHANGE SEEN IN PARIS STRIKE; RED MOVE DENIED

Paris, June 6.—The strike situation was stationary this morning. Transport workers at meetings held yesterday, pledged themselves to remain out until their demands were fully satisfied and subway employees passed resolutions expressing contempt for "persons who have been insinuating that bolshevism is behind the strike."

The metal industries have made virtually no progress toward a settlement as yet. A meeting to consider the situation was held last night by the executive committee of the general labor federation. In a statement published today the more powerful railroad unions declare that they have decided that they are not called upon to take any measures in connection with the present disturbance.

DISPERSE REBELS FROM COSTA RICA; NO MARINES LAND

Washington, June 6.—"The invading forces have been completely driven out of Costa Rican territory and have taken refuge in Nicaragua," said a cablegram received today by Carlos Lara, Costa Rican representative here.

"No American marines have been landed in any Costa Rican port," declared Mr. Lara in a statement referring to press dispatches saying United States marines had been landed at Puntarenas and Port Limon.

"There is no reason whatsoever for them to land unless it would be on a mission of courtesy and friendship."
